BLUE FRONTIER

SALISBURY, WILTSHIRE

Blue Frontier moved into their new premises in Old Sarum, Salisbury to give themselves more space and a better working environment with more recreational areas for their dedicated team.

Our brief for their office refurbishment was to transform the empty office block on an industrial estate into a unique and exciting workspace built around their expanding team.

From a petrol pump fridge and hot air balloon acoustic seating, this project was a real success. The two-storey office now boasts an enviable range of rooms: two new state-of-the-art boardrooms, a games room, television lounge, pool tournaments, a large kitchen, a contemporary dining area and a bar with a built-in coffee tap.

"With the help of Westcountry Group's designers, we started planning the transformation of what was, to what is."

The renovation took a total of four months from start to finish and we are extremely pleased with the outcome and think you'll agree the building has been given a new lease of life.

We would like to thank everyone that was involved in the move and all those who made it possible."

The team at Blue Frontier

The staff at Blue Frontier are absolutely delighted with the truly inspirational and refreshing refurbishment.

LAND ROVER

HONITON, DEVON

The team at Land Rover required an on-brand fit-out of their reception and meeting areas to impress visitors at the Westcountry Experience Centre.

The fit-out had to be aligned with Land Rover's brand guidelines in order to maintain their high-end company image.

Staff at the centre are thrilled with their 'new look' workspace which has given the building a new lease of life.

Combining luxury wood tones with cream faux leather panels, our teams designed, delivered and installed a beautiful bespoke reception desk and two matching decorative walls, paired with classy, elegant furniture throughout the centre. The end result is a stunning interior that will create a fantastic impression on visitors to the centre and is perfectly aligned with Land Rover's company value of going 'Above and Beyond'.

STRUKTA

ANDOVER, HAMPSHIRE

How do you capture a company's 'wow' culture when creating a new workspace? That's the question posed by Strukta Group when it looked to bring together three separate satellite offices into one central hub.

Westcountry Group was delighted to be asked to complete the project, which it did after listening to the needs, wants and aspirations of the company's management team.

Understanding a company's brand values, DNA and core aspirations is crucial to delivering a successful project. It's easy to make a space look good, but what matters is creating something that's perfectly aligned to the brand. As you'll see, this is captured by the results at Strukta Group. And yes, that is a slide. Anything's possible when you speak to Westcountry Group.

The team at Strukta were "thrilled" with the results, with director Myles Moggach saying: "We've had some great feedback from the staff thanking us for investing in them in these facilities and for having the confidence in them to give them the facilities to pursue their own working style for the good of the company."

Myles went on to praise Westcountry Group for its ability to grasp what the management team was trying to achieve.

The fact that the centralisation process resulted in no loss of staff speaks volumes about Strukta's culture and its team spirit. We were proud to play a part in the transformation.

Naturally, we had one or two goes on the slide. You know, just to make sure it worked.

"We've had some great feedback from the staff thanking us for investing in them in these facilities and for having the confidence in them to give them the facilities to pursue their own working style for the good of the company."

VERSA DESIGN

PLYMOUTH, DEVON

Versa, which specialises in Optimising Dining Spaces by providing a range of mobile folding dining-tables in education establishments, wanted a full office refurbishment with plans to move to an open plan office environment to improve collaboration as their team were split between two floors.

Having received the brief, we produced one of our 3D CAD designs with a proposed new layout and colour scheme for their office. Feedback followed and adjustments were made to the design to ensure the perfect balance of furniture for the space available. The final design included colour co-ordinated furniture, new stand-up/sit-down desks, a storage wall, coffee station, breakout areas and new offices for the Senior Leadership Team. It also includes a new area for staff to take lunch and have breaks with a refurbished kitchen and new appliances.

The staff now benefit from a fully functional, collaborative, well-designed office that provides the facilities for modern open plan working. It is a professional environment enhancing the wellbeing and productivity of staff with a high-quality finish and comfortable furniture.

BATH ALES

BRISTOL

Following their successful takeover of Bath Ales, St Austell Brewery wanted to invest in their staff – giving them a bright and modern office interior which accurately reflected the iconic brand in the design.

The existing offices were old and tired, so the brewery employed the team at Westcountry Group to refurbish their offices, turning them into a modern and fresh space focused on staff welfare and productivity.

Capturing these concepts, we refurbished their office space and gave the whole interior a new and refreshing look. By incorporating the colourful wall graphics with modern furniture and intelligent ergonomic office design, the team at Westcountry Group created a vivid, functional and healthy workplace which will work hard for the growing team.

Westcountry Group completed the project in just seven weeks, meaning there was minimal disruption to the client and their activities. The refurbishment has breathed new life into the older building and the team are truly delighted with the inspiring transformation.

We love how the way the bright and bold wall graphics create such a strong brand identity!

SOUTHFIELD WINDOWS

TOTNES, DEVON

Southfield Group approached the team at Westcountry Group to provide a flexible furniture solution for their interiors. They liked the fact that we offer a ‘total interiors’ approach, meaning they could purchase everything they needed for the project from one single source.

Having viewed our previous projects and discussed multiple design ideas, we came up with a modern and ergonomic furniture solution which perfectly reflected their needs. Our team were quick to make evolving amendments to the design as required and responded quickly to ensure the project ran smoothly and efficiently.

We designed and fitted out the offices whilst keeping the various logistics, accounts and sales departments together.

This was a very important factor to Southfield Group to help them achieve their company goals that they were looking to achieve through this project.

The lucky team now have a modern and dynamic workspace centred around staff wellbeing and productivity which will help the company as it continues to grow.

PETROC COLLEGE

BARNSTAPLE, DEVON

Petroc College specialises in teaching vocational courses and they needed a fully functional teaching restaurant to enable their students to develop their catering and ‘front of house’ skills.

Westcountry Group were delighted to be selected to design and install a stunning response to the brief which incorporated several different typical hospitality settings that the students could expect to experience including coffee areas, fine dining and informal banquette seating. Bespoke dining screens help to zone the areas and give a life-like environment in which the students can hone their customer facing expertise.

The finished result is exactly what the College wanted and has proved to be a great success with the subtle natural tones perfectly complementing the semi-rural setting and the extensive first floor views over the North Devon countryside. The restaurant is used frequently to support other events taking place on campus including providing top quality food for the public.

LOGIQ CONSULTING

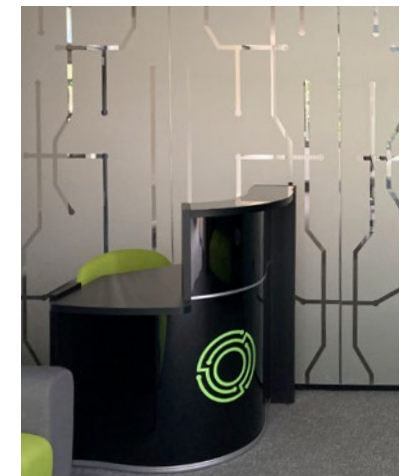

BRADLEY STOKE, BRISTOL

The client wanted a turnkey office fit-out that left them free to continue with their very busy daily commitments, which is exactly what Westcountry Group provided.

With a permanent on-the-ground site manager, we managed the whole project from initial designs through to final deep clean, transforming the building in the process. The scope of the project included carpeting and hard flooring, washroom refurbishment, power & data provision, furniture, glazed partitions, etc. Signage and graphics across all three floors further enhanced the working areas for the team, creating a great backdrop and wellbeing factor.

The result is a modern, smart, fit-for-purpose office with a stunning full-height graphic in the entrance atrium, welcoming their high-end customers with a great first-impression of the company. The company branding is carried throughout the building giving consistency and assurance, supporting the organisation's journey in winning additional and larger clients.
