CREATING SEND SPACES FOR ALL

SmartSEND delivering tailored intervention and effective SEND spaces

For nearly 50 years, Westcountry Group has been transforming classrooms into exceptional learning environments and nowhere is our expertise more impactful than in creating intelligent, SEND supportive spaces.

We design with purpose, empathy, and deep educational insight, ensuring every student can access learning, feel valued, and reach their full potential.

A well designed environment doesn't just look good; it changes how students learn. Our spaces enable seamless teaching to both neurotypical and neurodiverse learners, without awkward differentiation or drawing attention to individual needs. The result? Every student feels included, confident, and able to thrive.

SEND suitable design won't have to break your budget. Our team carefully selects materials, products, and finishes that deliver optimum results and long term value tailored to your specific requirements and resources.

Every detail matters. That's why our interior and technical designers meticulously create spaces that naturally support SEND students in thoughtful, discreet ways. When we redesign your classroom, we create an environment that:

- Enables students and makes them inspired to learn,
- Gives you a space you'll be proud to show to parents, and
- Empowers teachers to deliver an outstanding curriculum for every learner

As both a furniture manufacturer and refurbishment specialist, we don't just design spaces, we deliver them. This unique combination of skills allows us to turn your needs and aspirations into a fully realised, intelligently planned SEND supportive environment.

From fabrics and materials to colour palettes and acoustic control, every choice is made to ensure the space is supportive rather than overstimulating.

Our designs minimise distraction, include calming features, and provide safe areas for students with ADHD, autism, aspergers, anxiety or other neurodivergent needs to reset when overwhelmed.

Drawing on durable, education tested products and forward thinking design, we create innovative, enabling environments where all students can flourish academically, emotionally, and socially.
